WHY DO WE TEACH FRENCH AT BEECHWOOD

Why do we teach French?	How is French sequenced within our school?	What will our children learn?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • To give our children the opportunity to explore, become fluent and be enriched by another language. • We have chosen French because of its proximity to Southampton and because there are direct ferries from our local area to Brittany. • We also have a small number of families who are fluent in French within our community, and we celebrate and use this to further enhance teaching. • We feel it is important to have the opportunity to learn another language at Beechwood as it gives them the tools they need to explore a new culture. • By learning another language children are able to foster a 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • We use a scheme called Language Angels and have chosen themes for each year group that are pitched at their age-related expectation but are also ones that will ensure a high level of engagement as they are topics that the children will enjoy. • Each year builds on the learning of the year before and where possible links to their wider curriculum to help make links that stick in their mind. • Each child is taught through a combination of speaking and listening, writing and grammar which builds in complexity across the key stage. • We believe teaching a language in this school is all about teaching them communication and use it as a chance for children to practice these skills at every opportunity. • We start, in year three, by encouraging children to listen to and repeat words and short phrases, gradually giving them opportunities to use the short phrases to communicate with each other. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will learn to be curious about the wider world and to be curious about language. • They will be exposed to another culture through the learning of a new language and some learning about famous French people, French inventions, and discoveries. • The children will learn tolerance and empathy as they co-operate with each other, encouraging each other to use the language with each other. • They will develop an understanding of the wider world, learning that French is spoken in France and in many other countries in the world too. • They will develop their communication skills in French, using the language in listening, speaking, reading, and writing activities and playing games in the target language too. They

curiosity and deepen their understanding of the world. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • MFL helps children with their communication skills and teaches them how to communicate in different ways. • We also have a large number of bilingual families within the school (20%) and this helps give our children the opportunity to explore a language through speaking and listening, reading and completing written work together. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In year four, we expose children to longer passages of text and teaching them to pick out key words and phrases from previous units. • In year five, children are expected to listen for longer and with greater understanding, even when some of the language is unfamiliar, as they begin to apply the decoding skills they have developed. • By year six, children are able to listen to longer French material, learning to pick out cognates and familiar words and learning to 'listen for the gist' even when the language used has not been taught or covered. They can write a piece of text using French from a range of units covered. 	will also learn decoding skills which they will be able to apply in French, or another MFL, at secondary school or later in life if they choose to study other languages later on. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Their understanding of how grammar works in French will also deepen their understanding of grammar in English and any other languages they encounter later in life.
